IV. COURSE OBJECTIVES/TEKS

§130.347. Marketing Dynamics Career Preparation (One to Three Credits).

(a) General requirements. This course is recommended for students in Grades 11-12.
(b) Introduction.
  (1) Marketing is a series of dynamic activities that focus on the customer to generate a profitable exchange. Students gain knowledge and skills that help them to be proficient in one or more of the marketing functional areas associated with distribution, financing, marketing-information management, pricing, product planning, promotion, purchasing, risk management, and selling skills needed to help customers make satisfying buying decisions and to solve marketing problems. Students integrate skills from academic subjects, information technology, interpersonal communication, and management training to make responsible decisions.

(2) The principles of business and marketing, the concepts of economics and free enterprise, and the understanding of human resource skills that an effective marketer must possess provide the foundation for the study of marketing dynamics. Understanding and applying these concepts allows students to know the interrelationship between business and marketing.

c) Knowledge and skills.

(1) The student knows business concepts and how business satisfies economic needs. The student is expected to:
   (A) categorize business activities as production, marketing, management, or finance;
   (B) explain the interdependence each business activity has with marketing;
   (C) explain the impact of an international economy on business activities; and
   (D) describe advantages and disadvantages of various forms of business ownership.

(2) The student knows the relationship of business and society. The student is expected to:
   (A) understand the ramifications of business conduct;
   (B) identify ways that businesses contribute to their community; and
   (C) explain contributions that marketing makes to business and society.

(3) The student knows the importance of marketing as well as the functions of marketing. The student is expected to:
   (A) explain the marketing concept; and
   (B) describe each marketing function and how it illustrates the marketing concept.

(4) The student knows that the marketing mix involves a combination of the decisions about product, price, place, promotion, and people. The student is expected to:
   (A) explain how each component of the marketing mix contributes to successful marketing; and
   (B) describe the importance of marketing strategies in the marketing mix.

(5) The student knows the concepts of market and market identification. The student is expected to:
   (A) explain the importance of target markets;
   (B) describe advantages and disadvantages of market segmentation and mass marketing; and
   (C) distinguish among geographic, demographic, psychographic, and behavioral segmentation.

(6) The student applies math concepts in marketing. The student is expected to:
   (A) perform calculations involving money, time, space, materials, and data;
   (B) interpret charts and graphs to make informed marketing decisions; and
   (C) use formulas and equations to determine price, profit, costs, and break-even point.

(7) The student integrates listening, reading, speaking, writing, and nonverbal communication skills effectively. The student is expected to:
   (A) communicate effectively in a business setting;
   (B) develop effective business correspondence (such as memoranda, business letters, and reports) using correct grammar, spelling, punctuation, and form; and
   (C) utilize technology in receiving and sending business communication.

(8) The student knows how to use self-development techniques and interpersonal skills to accomplish marketing objectives. The student is expected to:
   (A) identify and practice effective interpersonal and team-building skills involving situations with co-workers, managers, and customers;
   (B) develop short- and long-term personal goals;
   (C) identify and use time management principles; and
   (D) participate in leadership and career development activities (such as DECA and local chambers of commerce).

(9) The student applies information technology as an effective marketing tool. The student is expected to:
   (A) research the use of information technology in marketing; and
   (B) select and use the tools of information technology in marketing.
(10) As a lifelong learner, the student knows that careers are ever changing and require continual self-assessment, research, and preparation to develop and implement responsible decisions. The student is expected to:
   (A) collect and analyze self-assessment information, including interests, aptitudes, and personal traits;
   (B) research and assess employment trends in marketing careers; and
   (C) model the steps for locating and securing employment.

(11) The student knows the importance of emerging trends and technologies in marketing. The student is expected to:
   (A) discuss trends affecting marketing; and
   (B) research emerging technologies in marketing.

(12) The student knows the impact and value of diversity. The student is expected to:
   (A) identify the effect of languages other than English on marketing;
   (B) explain how diversity affects marketing; and
   (C) explain the impact of multiculturalism and multigenerationalism on marketing activities.

   (A) describe characteristics of economic goods and services;
   (B) identify economic needs and wants;
   (C) explain the concept of utility and cite examples of types of utility;
   (D) explain the concept of price; and
   (E) explain how the interaction of supply and demand affects price.

(14) The student knows that a nation's economic system is determined by what is produced, how it is produced, and how it is distributed. The student is expected to:
   (A) compare and contrast how economies answer the basic economic questions; and
   (B) explain why most economies are mixed.

(15) The student knows that private enterprise is based on independent decisions by businesses and consumers concerning the right to own property, own a business, compete, make a profit, and exercise consumer choice with limited government involvement. The student is expected to:
   (A) describe characteristics of a private enterprise system;
   (B) explain advantages and disadvantages of private enterprise;
   (C) describe the role profit plays in a market economy;
   (D) list examples of competitive business situations; and
   (E) identify examples of competitive business situations as price or nonprice competition.

(16) The student knows that gross domestic product (GDP), standard of living, consumer price index, and unemployment figures help measure whether an economy is accomplishing its goals. The student is expected to:
   (A) identify economic measurements used to analyze an economy; and
   (B) explain how economic measures are used in a market economy.

(17) The student knows that changes in the economy include prosperity, recession, depression, and recovery, that may be collectively referred to as the business cycle. The student is expected to:
   (A) explain the concept of business cycles; and
   (B) describe the impact that phases of a business cycle have on the economy.

(18) The student knows that international economic factors affect marketing planning. The student is expected to:
   (A) distinguish between imports and exports;
   (B) explain the interdependence of nations; and
   (C) analyze advantages and disadvantages of international trade.

(19) The student knows that distribution channel members facilitate the movement of products. The student is expected to:
   (A) explain channels of distribution; and
   (B) evaluate a distribution plan.
(20) The student knows that distribution involves activities associated with the physical movement or transfer of ownership of products from producer to consumer. The student is expected to:
