Attendance Policy:
Students are expected to log in and check their e-mail regularly. One lowest journal grade and one lowest discussion board grade will be dropped for every student. If you miss such an assignment, you will not be allowed to make up for it. Save the two lowest dropped grades for real emergencies. There will be no excuses, no exceptions, and no make-up journals or discussions, even with proper documentation.

Assignment Submission Policy:
All essays must be submitted on eCampus in MS Word file format as a single file. If you do not have MicroSoft Word, please save and submit your essays as .rtf files. Most word processing programs allow that option. PLEASE DO NOT E-MAIL ASSIGNMENTS TO ME: everything must go through eCampus (SafeAssign), and I will not accept e-mail submissions. Late papers will not be accepted, except for officially documented emergencies. Save your work often on a flash drive or any other portable memory device. Computer malfunctions do not exempt students from assignment deadlines: there are computers on campus, in public libraries, and at work, so if you save and back up your work often, you will be able to finish it on time. The only exception would be a documented eCampus malfunction. Acceptable documentation includes photographs/screenshot of error messages and copies of e-mail communication with Technical Support. ABSOLUTELY NO LATE WORK WILL BE ACCEPTED AFTER December 10, 2018.

Assignments are due as outlined in the course calendar. Waiting until last minute can be problematic as issues may arise with computers and servers. Experiencing technological difficulties or not having access to a computer are not acceptable reasons for missing deadlines.

E-mail Policy
Please identify yourself by both your last and first names either in the subject line or in the body of your message. Anonymous e-mails will not be answered.
Please use professional, formal language in your emails to professors. It is advisable to start every email with a polite greeting, proceed to briefly explain the question or concern about which you are contacting your professor, and finish with a signature. I will answer emails between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Emails sent after 6:00 p.m. will be answered the morning after.

Class Etiquette
Only meaningful, respectful participation that contributes to the class discussion is acceptable in this class. Comments that are insulting, offensive, may be considered sexual harassment, or are otherwise inappropriate for a collegiate environment will not be tolerated. Journals, papers, discussion comments, and peer reviews containing such inappropriate material will receive the grade of zero.

- ACADEMIC HONESTY & PLAGIARISM—English Departmental Policy
- Scholastic dishonesty is a violation of the Code of Student Conduct. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion. As a college student, you are considered a responsible adult. Your enrollment indicates acceptance of the DCCCD Code of Student Conduct published in the DCCCD Catalog at http://www1.dcccd.edu/cat0506/ss/code.cfm

- Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on tests, plagiarism and collusion. Cheating includes copying from another student’s test or homework paper, using materials not authorized, collaborating with or seeking aid from another student during a test, knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, or soliciting the contents of an unadministered test, and substituting for another person to take a test. Plagiarism is the appropriating, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any means another’s work and the unacknowledged submission or incorporation of it in one’s own written work. Collusion is the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work for fulfillment of course requirements.

- Academic dishonesty is a serious offense in college. You can be given a failing grade on an assignment or test, can be failed for the class, or you can even be suspended from college. In any written paper, you are guilty of the academic offense known as plagiarism if you partially or entirely copy the author’s sentences or words without quotation marks. For such an offense, a student will receive a zero on the assignment and could even receive an F for the course. You cannot mix the author’s words with your own or “plug” your synonyms into the author’s sentence structure. To prevent unintentional borrowing, resist the temptation to look at the source as you write, unless you are using a direct quote. The author’s words, phrases, sentences must be put in your words, in your way of writing. When you do this, you are demonstrating the ability of understanding and comprehension.

- Please be advised that academic dishonesty and plagiarism are serious issues that may result in serious consequences. Students should be aware that they are responsible for their behavior concerning these issues. This class will adhere to the student’s “Responsibility” as detailed in the DCCCD district-wide statement and the Eastfield College Student Code of Conduct explained in the Eastfield College and district catalogs or on-line at the district website (https://www1dccc.edu/cat0608/ss/code.cfm).

- Consequences for Academic Dishonesty and/or Plagiarism: Any student in this English class found guilty of cheating on an examination or of Plagiarism (using the definitions given for both terms in the attached document) will receive one or more of the following penalties:
  - The grade of zero (0) on that particular assignment for first-time offenders.
  - A course grade of F for repeat offenders
  - The professor may request that the student drop the class.

- SELF-PLAGIARISM is reusing a previously submitted assignment of one’s own instead of writing an assignment per instructor’s requirements. Self-plagiarism will be penalized just like any other case of academic dishonesty.

- Contingency Plan
  - In case of a campus closing or any other emergency that may prevent a scheduled class from meeting, I will post materials on eCampus. Please check your e-mail for additional instructions
  - in case of such a closing and go to eConnect for all and any “Plan B” procedures.
