SOCl 1306 - Contemporary Social Issues (3 credit hours) -- This course is a sociological study of social issues which typically include criminal behavior, social justice, poverty, social stratification, demographic shifts, health care, public policy, civil rights, and social activism. Specific topics may vary from semester to semester to address contemporary social concerns. (Coordinating Board Academic Approval Number 4511015225)

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK:

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES (SLO):

1. Describe how the sociological imagination can be used to explain the emergence and implications of contemporary social problems.
2. Use and critique alternative explanatory systems or theories.
3. Differentiate and analyze historical evidence (documentary and statistical) and differing points of view. Analyze, critically assess, and develop creative solutions to public policy problems.
4. Recognize and assume one’s responsibility as a citizen in a democratic society by learning to think for oneself, by engaging in public discourse, and by obtaining information through the news media and other appropriate information sources about politics and public policy.
5. Describe how the proposed "solutions" to a social problem, including social policies, may bring rise to other social problems.

PLAGIARISM:
In any written work, you are guilty of the academic offense known as plagiarism if you half-copy or copy the author's sentences, words. Usually this results in an automatic grade of "F" for the course; in this sociology course, plagiarism will result in a grade of "0" for the particular assignment. You cannot mix the author's words with your own or "plug" your synonyms into the author's sentence structure. To prevent unintentional borrowing, resist the temptation to look at the source as you write. The author's words, phrases, sentences must be put in your words, in your way of writing! When you do this, you are demonstrating the ability of understanding and comprehension! If you use the author's words or ideas in any of your assignments, you should give credit to the author. You can do this simply by saying ..... "According to the author of the textbook, "....". Other sources should also be credited.

ACADEMIC HONESTY:
The purpose of the Student Code of Conduct is to provide guidelines for the educational environment of The Dallas County Community College District. Such an environment presupposes both rights and responsibilities. Disciplinary regulations at the college are set forth in writing in order to give students general notice of prohibited conduct. Students should be aware of disciplinary actions for all forms of academic dishonesty, including cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, plagiarism, and collusion. Your College Catalog and the DCCCD Catalog contain the entire Student Code of Conduct, which is also on the Internet at http://dcccdd.edu.

The official "W" and "Certification" dates are listed in the "Due Dates" Chart of this course. Be sure to check. After the designated "W" date, you will receive a "performance" grade. Incompletes are not given in this course unless the majority of the course work is completed and an emergency precludes the student from finishing the course work. To be "Certified" in this course, you must complete the certification exercise.
FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION:
Students who are receiving any form of financial aid should check with the Financial Aid Office prior to withdrawing from classes. Withdrawals may affect your eligibility to receive further aid and could cause you to be in a position of repayment for the current semester. Students who fail to attend or participate after the drop date are also subject to this policy.

TESTING:
All tests are online. You should not test until you are ready (within the stated course deadlines); however, once you open a test, you must complete the entire test; you cannot go back and complete a test later. When you complete all the online work for Chapters 1, 2, and 3, take test 1. Your tests are timed to 60 minutes, so you need to complete the test within that time frame.

If you encounter technical problems while testing, email me immediately; also contact the tech support folks at 972-669-6402. Some testing issues can be solved by not testing during heavy use periods such as the first two weeks of any semester and the last two weeks of the semester. I recommend not using a wireless connection.

Once you download the browser on your computer, you will not have to repeat that action unless you use a different computer. Do not wait to download the browser until the night before or morning of a test. Do it early in the term to get ready for testing in this class.

STOP BEFORE YOU DROP:
For students who enrolled in college level courses for the first time in the fall of 2007, Texas Education Code 51.907 limits the number of courses a student may drop. You may drop no more than 6 courses during your entire undergraduate career unless the drop qualifies as an exception. Your campus counseling/advising center will give you more information on the allowable exceptions. Remember that once you have accumulated 6 non-exempt drops, you cannot drop any other courses with a “W”. Therefore, please exercise caution when dropping courses in any Texas public institution of higher learning, including all seven of the Dallas County Community Colleges. For more information, you may access: https://www1.dcccd.edu/coursedrops.

REPEATABILITY ISSUE:
Effective for Fall Semester 2005, the Dallas County Community Colleges will charge a higher tuition rate to students registering the third or subsequent time for a course. All third and subsequent attempts of the majority of credit and Continuing Education/Workforce Training courses will result in higher tuition to be charged. Developmental Studies and some other courses will not be charged a higher tuition rate. Third attempts include courses taken at any of the Dallas County Community Colleges since the Fall 2002 semester. For complete information and updates, go to: https://www.dcccd.edu/ThirdCourseAttempt/.
