Description of Graded Work
Grades in this course will reflect your performance in the following areas:

1. Satisfactory completion of individual assignments
2. Satisfactory participation in group critiques (formal and informal)
3. Satisfactory attendance

1. Notebook
For this portion of your grade, you will be given various small assignments/exercises in addition to worksheets for each of the five projects. The worksheets will require you to research various artist, techniques and work through ideas before you begin a project. Place each worksheet in a three-ring binder in clear sheet protectors.
This will be due on the last day of class.

Requirements:
One-inch a three-ring binder
Clear Sheet Protectors
White Cardstock (8.5" x 11")
Lined Paper for notes/brainstorming

2. Projects

You will have a total of five project throughout the course of the semester. Each project with employ a specific element or elements and require you to use specific principles of composition.

Explanation of Letter Grade for Projects

A. An “A” awards work that is excellent, strong in content, individualistic, creative, and well presented. “A” work shows engagement with and mastery of the ideas that are being explored. Class participation and attendance are also important elements. An “A” project is handed in on time and the grade signifies an outstanding job.

B. “B” work is above average—not every well-done project earns an “A”. This effort shows clear understanding and engagement with the ideas that are being explored. The work is relatively free from flaw that distracts the viewer from the totality of the work but it lacks the energy and polish of an “A” project. “B” work is strong in content and well presented. Class participation and attendance are important. This is an above-average, good job.

C. “C” work is lacking in someway – technically, visually, conceptually, or in terms of the effort given to the work. A “C” project shows lack of originality and usually presents the expected solution or lackluster effort. This is an average, undistinguished, but generally acceptable job.

D. “D” work is below average, unclear in focus, and is not a successful solution to the problem. It is flawed and poorly presented and shows a general lack of understanding of the assignment. A poor job, but not a complete failure.

F. You really did little or nothing, misunderstood the assignment completely, and generally missed the point. “F” work is unacceptable to the assignment.

!!!PROJECT MUST BE IN A COMPLETED STATE IN ORDER TO TURN IN!!!

3. Mid-term and Final Exams

Both exams will require you to study the concepts and terms related to course materials in lectures/powerpoints. The material can be found in your textbook and on Blackboard. A review of the content will be given prior to the exam.

4. Attendance

Students are expected to attend all classes. Students have the responsibility to attend class and to consult with the instructor when an absence occurs. If for some reason you must leave class early, you should inform the instructor prior to the start of class of your reason for leaving early.
Student attendance is mandatory for all class times. Students shall remain in class for the duration of that class session - 2hrs and 50min - until excused. This course requires that you attend class twice a week. Be prompt and do not be late to class.

If you do miss a class, you are responsible for making up the missed work as soon as possible. I will not repeat slides lectures or detailed instructions, but you can make an appointment with me to clarify the assignment and its objectives. It is your responsibility to keep track of your number of absences, but please feel free to ask me if you are not sure how many absences you have accrued.

Each day, you will receive a attendance grade up to three points based on your performance during class. One point will be subtracted for inadequate participation such as tardiness, leaving early, cell phone ringing/texting, using a device without permission, falling asleep or lack of supplies needed for class. This also includes small pop quizzes that are given randomly throughout the semester. The maximum amount of points earned at the end of the semester is 87, which constitutes HALF of your final grade.

If you are 30 minutes late to class or leave 30 minutes early, you will be marked absent for that day.

You must attend and present work at the Final Critique in order to pass the course.

Here is the math:
29 class days x 3 (max. points per day) = 87

\[
\frac{\text{(# of points at end of semester)}}{87} = \frac{x \text{ (attendance grade)}}{100}

Students are expected to attend all classes. Students have the responsibility to attend class and to consult with the instructor when an absence occurs. If for some reason you must leave class early, you should inform the instructor prior to the start of class of your reason for leaving early.

Students must begin attendance in all classes of enrollment. No exceptions. Financial Aid will not be granted to students who have been certified as not attending, by the certification date. For this lecture course, your physical participation in class, on or before the certification date will allow you to receive credit for FA purposes. For certification dates, check with the division or FAO for further information. Students, who are not certified as beginning class, are responsible for any payments due as a result of non-certification, to include the dropping of courses.

Project Revisions:
You have the option to rework any of the five projects and turn them in for a better grade. You have this option until the last day of class. If you do not turn a project in, you cannot rework it.

Extra Credit:

If you would like the opportunity for extra credit, you can write a research/response paper regarding material posted on Blackboard in the extra credit folder. Each assignment is worth 3 attendance points, or add 25 points towards any assignment/exam. This must be written in MLA format and you can write as many as you like, but simply writing a paper does not guarantee you the full extra credit. The research paper(s) must be well written, in the correct MLA format and NOT plagiarized!

You can submit this on Blackboard under the Extra Credit Assignment area on the homepage.
All written extra credit assignments must be submitted through Blackboard. All assignments must be submitted through SafeAssign by May 6th.

You can also volunteer at an art museum for extra credit. For each time you volunteer, you will receive either 25 points towards any assignment/exam or make up for 3 attendance points. I will update the class about volunteer opportunities when they are available.

You may also attend an art opening and write a one-page paper about the exhibition as it relates to class discussion and/or topics. You will receive either 25 points towards any assignment/exam or make up for 3 attendance points. I will announce opportunities as they arise during the semester.
