Certification
Students must attend and participate in the on-campus or online course(s) in order to receive federal financial aid. The instructor is required by law to validate a student’s attendance in your on-campus or online course in order for you to receive financial aid. Students must participate in an academic related activity pertaining to the course but not limited to the following examples: initiating contact with your instructor to ask a question about the academic subject studied in the course; submitting an academic assignment; taking an exam; completing an interactive video; participating in computer-assisted instruction; attending a study group assigned by the instructor; or participating in an online discussion board about academic matters relating to the course. In an online course, simply logging in is not sufficient by itself to demonstrate academic attendance. Students must demonstrate that you are participating in your online class and are engaged in an academically related activity such as in the examples described above. Failure to do so will prevent a student from being certified and will affect financial aid.

INET Etiquette
In order to facilitate a positive learning environment for all students and the instructor it is imperative that proper decorum be adhered to when interacting online. Please refrain from using disrespectful language when interacting with peers and instructor. It is best to always proofread what you type PRIOR to sending it out; this includes email or discussion boards. Remember that since there is no face to face interaction your words are the image you are projecting. Respect the opinions of others even if you do not agree.

Academic Honesty

Scholastic dishonesty is a violation of the Code of Student Conduct. Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion. Accessing the Internet during quizzes or assessments is prohibited. If this policy is violated a student will receive a ZERO for the ENTIRE assignment. Omitting words, pronouns, prepositions, etc. is still plagiarism. For discussion boards and journals, film reviews, and the slave narrative project all information that is not the student's original analysis must be properly cited. As a college student, you are considered a responsible adult. Your enrollment indicates acceptance of the DCCCD Code of Student Conduct published in the DCCCD Catalog.
Technology Policy
Assignments are DUE as outlined in the course calendar. Waiting until the last minute can be problematic as issues may arise with computers. Experiencing technological difficulties or not having access to a computer are not acceptable reasons for missing assignment deadlines. Students should plan in advance to complete assignments utilizing resources available to them; for example, computers at a local library or the Eastfield College library.
