

Curriculum Vitae

Dr. Douglas Cornell
Dept. of Humanities and Cultural Studies
Brookhaven College School of the Arts
3939 Valley View Lane, Dallas, TX 75244
972-860-4730, dcornell@dcccd.edu

Education

North Texas State University, Denton, TX
D.M.A. in Music Composition

University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY
M.M. in Music Composition

Auburn University, Auburn, AL
B.M. in Piano Performance

Livingston State College, Livingston, AL
B.S. in Music
Minor in Music and English

Teaching Experience

Brookhaven College, Dallas, TX—January 2003 – Present
Adjunct Professor in Humanities

Booker T. Washington HS for the Performing/Visual Arts, Dallas, TX—August 1976—August 2002
Coordinator of Music

Dallas Independent School District, Dallas, TX—August 1974—August 1976
Composer-in-Residence

North Texas State University, Denton, TX—June 1972—May 1974
Part-time instructor in Music Composition

Angelo State University, San Angelo, TX—August 1967—June 1972
Instructor/Assistant Professor of Music

Publications

Doctoral Dissertation: “The Icarus Triptych: A Symphony for Wind and Percussion Ensemble”
North Texas State University

Master’s Thesis: “A Figment of Hobgob”, a One-Act Opera
University of Kentucky

Numerous pieces for bands, orchestral ensembles, voice and piano, various instrumental ensembles, musical theater productions and jazz vocal ensembles have been composed and performed for various occasions in my positions at educational institutions. Most have not been published. A complete list is available upon request.