

Curriculum Vitae

Emily Reece, RN, MSN, PhD
El Centro College
(972)273-3097
ereece@dcccd.edu

Education

Texas Woman's University, Denton, TX
Ph.D. in Health Studies (Public Health at the Community Level)
Dissertation: "The Impact of a Patient Lifting Equipment Program on the Number of Work-Related Injuries Among Health-Care Workers at a For-Profit Hospital in North Texas: A Case Study."

Texas Woman's University, Dallas, TX
M.S.N. in Nursing – Adult Health Advanced Practice
Thesis: "Client Perceptions of Caring in the Moderate-Acuity Patient in an Emergency Department."
Sigma Theta Tau, Phi Kappa Phi

Regents College, Albany, NY
B.S.N. Cum Laude in Nursing
Nominee; Margaret Montag Memorial Award for Student Excellence

Teaching Experience

Dallas County Community College, Dallas, TX - January 2008 – Present
Instructor – Nursing 2nd Level Skills Lab, 3rd and 4th Level Lecture and 4th Level Precepted Clinical,
Facilitated syllabus and overall structure and administered all grades.

Excelsior College, Albany, NY – January 2005 to Present
Adjunct Faculty/Clinical Nursing Examiner
Responsible for administration of Clinical Performance in Nursing Examination.

Western Governors' University, Salt Lake City, UT – February 2010 – Present
Adjunct Faculty for Progressive Steps Nursing Program
Delivered skills lab instruction and administered clinical competence testing.

Texas Woman's University, Dallas, TX – September 2006 – May 2006
Adjunct Faculty – Fundamentals of Nursing
Delivered skills lab content and taught 8 hours per week of Medical-Surgical clinicals.

Publications and Papers

Integrating Faculty Research into Evidence-Based Nursing Education, October, 2009
Guest Speaker at the FEMAFEE Conference, Monterrey, NL, Mexico