

Jennifer De La Garza, RRT
301 N. Market Street
Dallas, TX 75202
jdelaGarza@dcccd.edu

Education

University of Texas, Austin, Texas
Bachelor of Arts Degree, Biology

California College for Health Sciences
Associate Degree, Respiratory Care

Teaching Experience

Faculty, Respiratory Care Department, Division of Health and Legal Studies, El Centro College January 2010-present: Course assignments include didactic, laboratory and clinical instruction. Focus areas include updating curriculum to meet national standards as well as developing on-line examinations.

Visiting Scholar, Respiratory Care Department, Division of Health and Legal Studies, El Centro College January 2008-December, 2009: Course assignments include didactic, laboratory and clinical instruction. Focus areas include updating curriculum to meet national standards as well as developing on-line examinations.

Publications and Papers

Alexander Eastman, M.D., Dean Holland, R.R.T., Jason Higgins, R.R.T., Brian Smith, R.R.T., Jennifer Delagarza, R.R.T., Craig Olson, M.D., Scott Brakenridge, M.D., Kousta Foteh, M.D., Randall Friese, M.D., F.A.C.S. "High-frequency Percussive Ventilation Improves Oxygenation in Trauma Patients with Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome: A Retrospective Review", The American Journal of Surgery, 2006.

De La Garza, J., Higgins, J., Holland, D., O'Keefe, G. HFOV and HFPV in the Management of Severe Unilateral Blunt Chest Trauma. Journal of Respiratory Care, 2002.

De La Garza, J., Estetter, R., Holland, D., Hawkins, K., O'Keefe, G. Optimizing MAP Settings during HFOV by Analyzing Pressure/Time Scalar Differences Captured Pre & Post ETT Interface. Journal of Respiratory Care, 2001.