

Curriculum Vitae: Lois Parrott

Lois Parrott, PH.D.

Humanities Office 972-238-6286

Lparrott@dccc.edu

Richland College

12800 Abrams Road

Dallas, TX 75243

Education

Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), Adult Continuing Education, minor interdisciplinary
Texas A&M University, Commerce, Texas

Master of Education (M.E.), Education, University of North Texas
Denton, Texas

Bachelor of Arts, (B.A.), Art major, Education & Music minor Dakota Wesleyan University
(Studied and Traveled in Africa/Asia as a sophomore), Mitchell, South Dakota

Teaching Experience

Dallas Independent School District, Dallas, Texas:
Arts and Music Junior High and High School Teacher

Richland College, Dallas, Texas:
Full-time Professor and for several years and was an adjunct faculty supervisor

Publications and Papers

Parrott, Lois, Essential Humanities, Kendall Hunt Publishers, Dubuque, Iowa; 2009 Reprinted in 2011, 2013

Parrott, Lois, "Instructor's Manual for text, Exploring the Humanities: Creativity and Culture in the West," by Laurie Schneider Adams, Upper Saddle River, New Jersey; 2006

"Use of Computers as a Tool in Fine Art", Journal of Art & Design, Volume 19; May 2000

"Educational Column," Contributor, Whiterocker News; 1996 – Present

"Attitudes of Community College Faculty/Students towards Videodisc Technology in the Classroom," Community College-Journal of Research/Practice, Volume 19/No. 16; 1996

"Preliminary Humanities Tech Scout Report,"

"Scouting for Multimedia: The Search Goes On," and

"Attitudes towards Videodiscs Technology in the Dallas County Community College District," Resources in Education; summer of 1993

"Henry Moore Visit," Interview by Lois Parrott with Sir Henry Moore, Sculptor
Henry Moore Archives, Nelson-Atkins Museum, Kansas City; 1991

Certificates, Certifications & Other Qualifications

Licensed Teaching Certificate, Texas Board of Education, Austin, Texas while teaching public school
Supervisory certification training, University of North Texas at Denton, Texas

Relevant Experience

Multimedia Consultant for the LeCroy Telecommunications Center for the Dallas County
Community while also serving as a full-time professor at Richland College

Served as volunteer on two School Boards for thirteen years while teaching full-time

Master Presenter: The National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD)

Department of Educational Administration College of Education, University of Texas at Austin

Excellence in Teaching Award, Richland College

I certify that statements made by me in this vitae are true, complete and correct.