

Jessica Waldrop
4849 W. Illinois Ave.
Dallas, TX 75211
JWaldrop@dcccd.edu

EDUCATION

Texas Tech University

May 2012

Master of Arts, History

U.S. Geographic Concentration; Focus in African American History;
World History Minor

“Black Women No Longer Serving Kool-Aid and Smiles,” Portfolio Defense

Texas A&M University

May 2010

Bachelor of Arts, History; Minor: Anthropology

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Mountain View College, Dallas, TX

Full-Time Professor- “History of the United States”

May 2015-Present

Teach lecture based (including LGI, online, WICS, and Fast Track) U.S. History courses, with an emphasis on African American History. Provide written course syllabi, which sets standards and expectations of students. Integrate technology into the classroom to facilitate learning and meet the needs of a diverse student body. Create and grade all written work as well as maintain course records. Additionally, serve the college’s needs via committees and task forces, including TEDxMountainViewCollege.

Temporary Full-Time Instructor- “History of the United States”

August 2013-May 2015

Teach lecture based (including LGI and Fast Track) U.S. History courses, with an emphasis on African American History. Provide written course syllabi, which sets standards and expectations of students. Integrate technology into the classroom to facilitate learning and meet the needs of a diverse student body. Create and grade all written work as well as maintain course records. Additionally, serve the college’s needs via committees and task forces.

Adjunct Instructor- “History of the United States”

August 2012-July 2013

Teach lecture based U.S. History courses, with an emphasis on African American History. Provide written course syllabi, which sets standards and expectations of students. Integrate technology into the classroom to facilitate learning and meet the needs of a diverse student body. Create and grade all written work as well as maintain course records. Courses taught during the regular academic year as well as during the Summer sessions.

Tarrant County College, Hurst, TX

Adjunct Instructor- "History of the United States"

Fall 2012

Teach lecture based U.S. History courses. Provide written course syllabi, which sets standards and expectations of students. Integrate technology into the classroom to facilitate learning and meet the needs of a diverse student body. Including utilization of Blackboard. Create and grade all written work as well as maintain course records. Courses of this subject matter have covered both periods of U.S. History, to 1877 and from 1877 to present.

Texas Tech University, Lubbock, TX

Instructor- "History of the U.S. Discussion"

January 2011- May 2012

Teach two weekly discussion sections comprised of 45 students each. Set standards and expectations of students as well as prepare lessons and questions that challenge students to think critically about historical readings. Also provide supplemental lectures and grade all written work. Includes experience with Blackboard, an online educational tool for posting assignments, grades, and discussion boards. Courses of this subject matter have covered both periods of U.S. History, to 1877 and from 1877 to present.

Teaching Assistant-"U.S. History to 1877" and "U.S. History from 1877-Present"

August 2010-May 2012

Interacted regularly with students regarding general course requirements, writing and studying, graded all written work, and aided the instructor with any course related needs. Experience with online education programs, creating exam material, and proctoring exams.